

What's an organization's most critical asset?

THE PEOPLE. Simple as that!

Training and development are important to both an individual's growth and an organization's success.

As the pressure equipment safety authority, our goals are to lead in pressure equipment safety and to deliver exceptional learning experiences.

We understand the ever-changing challenges businesses face today, and to show our support we are offering, for a limited time only, a 30% registration fee reduction on our full selection of seminars, when you register two or more employees from the same organization or you yourself register for two or more seminars. If you are going to be taking advantage of the discount, please send in all application at one time.

Whether you want three or 300 employees trained, whether you are looking for one day or one year's worth of training, we can create a tailor made seminar to match your company's pressure equipment training needs. We can bring it to you or hold the event here at ABSA.

We harness the combined experience of our staff to create that genuine advantage for you. Each year, hundreds of professionals see the benefits of ABSA training. Find out how you can, too.

For more information, or to book training for your organization, please contact ABSA at (780) 437-9100, training@absa.ca or online at www.absa.ca/seminars/course-listing
